Footway Parking and Double Parking (Scotland) Bill

Dear Sirs

I would like to raise the point that for many years now the planning system has allowed developers to build estates with really narrow streets and restricted parking. Most houses now have several cars and many employees take vehicles home at nights. The planning system has failed us by allowing developers to minimize most aspects of development.

It will be impossible to Police and I think it reasonable to have a fall back of this legislation to apply only between the hours of 08.00 and 17.00

Yours Sincerely

Alex Macleod
